MRS. CHADWICK COMPELLED TO talk, referring her interviewer to her OCCUPY A CELL IN THE NEW YORK CITY TOMBS.

LAWYERS' QUEST UNAVAILING | raigned before United States Commis

COULD NOT FIND A PROPERTY OWNER WILLING TO SIGN THE WOMAN'S BOND.

New York, Dec. 9.-Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick is now occupying one of the scantily furnished cells in the Tombs. After a fruitless search all day for bail, her attorneys gave up the fight Thursday nist and Philip Carpenter, her chief counsel, stood in the corridor given as securities for loans. of the federal building at 9 o'clock when United States Marshal Henkel threw open the double doors of his office and led the woman out on her way

Mrs. Chadwick was wan, tired and almost fainting. She made her way across the hall to the elevator, leaning heavily on the marshal's arm and that of her son Emil. Behind them came her nurse, Freda Swenson, and Deputy Marshal Kennedy.

The party passed through a double row of curious people to a carriage which was in waiting on the Broadway side. They were driven directly to the Tombs. Arriving there Mrs. Chadwick was half carried up the steps and into the building. Warden Flynn met the party and after the usual preliminaries had been attended to the nurse remain with her. This was de-

Assigned to a Cell.

Mrs. Chadwick gave a handbag and a few trinkets to the nurse and ful nurse leaned over her mistres whispered some instructions to her his prisoner over to the warden and she was taken to the matron's room. She asked to say good night to her son and the lad eagerly rushed to his mother and wrapping his arms about her, gave a long embrace. Then she was led away to the inner office where her pedigree was taken and she was assigned to a cell. The son and nurse entered a carriage and were driven to

While lying on a couch in the United States marshal's office awaiting a bondsman, Mrs. Chadwick for the first time since her name has been before the public consented to talk for publication and gave out a statement in which she denied relationship to Mrs. York of San Francisco, who gave out an interview Wednesday telling of the early life of Mrs. Chadwick.

In justice to her son, Mrs. Chadwick sand she would not make a statement about "this Madame Devere business" at the present time, but promised that later "Madame Devere's whereabouts and everything else in connection with this case would be shown."

Mrs. Chadwick also told of the Wade Park and Oberlin bank matters. Referring to the failure of the latter institution, she said:

"I would at like to live a minute, if I did not think I would not pay these people back."

Refuses to Discuss Carnegie Matter. When asked concerning Andrew Carnegie's connection with her rinan cial affairs, she declined absolutely to

Thursday was a momentous day for Mrs. Chadwick. It commenced with her early departure from her hotel for he federal building and ended with her incarceration in the Tombs.

In the interval she had been arsioner Shields and held in $15,000 bail, which she was unable to furnish. All day long lawyers representing her interests had sought in every quarter for someone owning real estate in Manhattan who would sign her bond and the marshal had out of sympathy for the woman, kept her in his office after she should have been removed. The endeavors of the lawyers were unsuccessful, rendering her imprisonment necessary.

To add to her cup of woe, it was learned Thursday night that a charge of forgery would very likely be made against the women in Ohio, based on the Carnegie notes and other papers

Efforts to get bail will continue Friday, although Mrs. Chadwick expressed the desire Thursday night to go to Cleveland as soon as possible. She said she would go there voluntarily, were it not for the contrary advice of counsel.

Mrs. Chadwick dined at 7 p. m. in Marshal Henkel's office under conditions in strange contrast to the manner in which she lived at New York

Partakes of a Meagre Lunch.

Her dinner consisted of an orange, a ham sandwich and a piece of cake brought by her son from a Broadway lunch counter. She lay on a hard leather couch, in a room filled with desks, chairs and file cases. A deputy marshal stood watch while her nurse took the meagre lunch from a paper woman asked permission to have her bag and pealed the orange. Emil sat by in silence and ate a few bites of a nied, the warden saying she could sandwich and the nurse dried her have no privileges not allowed other | tears long enough to taste the lunch counter fare. The three unfortunates had nothing

o say to each other. Occasionally Mrs. Chadwick sobbed and the faith and smoothed her gray hair. Mrs Marshal Henkel formally turned | Chadwick's face was much inflamed her eyes were red and her hands trembled violently as she pushed away the remains of the food and motioned Freda to give her a pile of evening papers which lay on a chair near the couch. She picked the papers up one by one and between sobs gave the pages a hasty glance. After she had run through the lot she selected one which seemed to interest her especially and began reading it with great care. But the strain seemed too great. She burst into tears, and the slight boy, who seemed cool under all the excitement, hasten ed to his mother's side and quieted he: with kisses. Thus, the sad trio await ed the announcement of Mrs. Chadwick's counsel that she must go to jail because surety for $15,000 could

As to the exact nature of these he declined to make a statement. Asked if any communication had been made with Mr. Carnegie here in this city he admitted that certain communications had been passed.

On the best of authority it is learned that in the communications in New York Thursday between Mr. Carnegie and the representatives of the Oberlin bank Mr. Carnegie denied absolutely that he had signed the notes which have figured in the case as the Carnegie notes and denied that he knows of or ever saw Mrs. Chadwick.

The same authority said that the Ohio proceeding would be in the nature of action on charge of forgery.

ON THE CHARGE OF FORGERY.

Grand Jury of Cuyahoga County (O.) May Indict Mrs. Chadwick. Cleveland, Dec. 9 .- County Prosecutor Keeler said last night that in all probability the grand jury of Cuyahoga county would bring in an indictment Friday against Mrs. Chalwick on the charge of forgery. Keeler said that Cashier Spears' statement that the notes were negotiated in this county and Carnegie's denial that he had signed such papers warranted an indictment for forgery.

Elyria, O., Dec. 9.—The grand jury adjourned Thursday evening after voting to indict Mrs. Chadwick on the charge of having obtained money under false pretenses in Lorain county. Oberlin is in Lorain county.

TWO ANDREW CARNEGIES.

One of Them Is Said to Have Signed Mrs. Chadwick's Notes.

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 9.-Judge Francis W. Downs, a prominent attorney of this city, said:

"I was informed Thursday, on what I believe to be good authority, that the notes passed by Mrs. Chadwick, and purporting to be signed by Addrew Carnegie, were geniune, and were signed by an Andrew Carnegie, but not the great steel magnate, but by a relative of his by that name. That will be the line of defense under any forgery charge that may be brought."

Thursday was a momentous day for Mrs. Chadwick. It commenced with her early departure from her hotel for the federal building and ended with her incarceration in the Tombs. In the interval she had been arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields and held in $15,000 bail, which she was unable to furnish.

All day long lawyers representing her interests had sought in every quarter for someone owning real estate in Manhattan who would sign her bond and the marshal had out of sympathy for the woman, kept her in his office after she should have been removed. The endeavors of the lawyers were unsuccessful, rendering her imprisonment necessary. To add to her cup of woe, it was learned Thursday night that a charge of forgery would very likely be made against the women in Ohio, based on the Carnegie notes and other papers given as securities for loans.

Efforts to get bail will continue Friday, although Mrs. Chadwick expressed the desire Thursday night to go to Cleveland as soon as possible. She said she would go there voluntarily, were it not for the contrary advice of counsel.

Mrs. Chadwick dined at 7 p. m. in Marshal Henkel's office under conditions in strange contrast to the manner in which she lived at New York hotels.

Partakes of a Meagre Lunch.

Her dinner consisted of an orange, a ham sandwich and a piece of cake brought by her son from a Broadway lunch counter. She lay on a hard leather couch, in a room filled with desks, chairs and file cases. A deputy marshal stood watch while her nurse took the meagre lunch from a paper bag and pealed the orange. Emil sat by in silence and ate a few bites of a sandwich and the nurse dried her tears long enough to taste the lunch counter fare. The three unfortunates had nothing to say to each other. Occasionally Mrs. Chadwick sobbed and the faithful nurse leaned over her mistress and smoothed her gray hair. Mrs. her eyes were red and her hands trembled violently as she pushed away the remains of the food and motioned Freda to give her a pile of evening papers which lay on a chair near the couch. She picked the papers up one by one and between sobs gave the pages a hasty glance. After she had run through the lot she selected one which seemed to interest her especially and began reading it with great care. But the strain seemed too great. She burst into tears, and the slight boy, who seemed cool under all the excitement, hasten ed to his mother's side and quieted he: with kisses. As to the exact nature of these he declined to make a statement. Asked if any communication had been made with Mr. Carnegie here in this city he admitted that certain communications had been passed.

On the best of authority it is learned that in the communications in New York Thursday between Mr. Carnegie and the representatives of the Oberlin bank Mr. Carnegie denied absolrtely that he had signed the notes which have figured in the case as the Carnegie notes and denied that he knows of

ON THE CHARGE OF FORGERY.

Grand Jury of Cuyahoga County (O.) May Indict Mrs. Chadwick.

Cleveland, Dec. 9.—County Prosecutor Keeler said last night that in all probability the grand jury of Cuyahoga county would bring in an indictment Friday against Mrs. Chadwick on the charge of forgery. Keeler said that Cashier Spears' statement that the notes were negotiated in this county and Carnegie's denial that he had signed such papers warranted an indictment for forgery.

Elyria, O., Dec. 9.—The grand jury adjourned Thursday evening after voting to indict Mrs. Chadwick on the charge of having obtained money under false pretenses in Lorain county. Oberlin is in Lorain county.

Mrs. Chadwick was wan, tired and almost fainting. She made her way across the hall to the elevator, leaning heavily on the marshal's arm and that of her son Emil. Behind them came her nurse, Freda Swenson, and Deputy Marshal Kennedy.

The party passed through a double row of curious people to a carriage which was in waiting on the Broadway side. They were driven directly to the Tombs. Arriving there Mrs. Chadwick was half carried up the steps liminaries had been attended to the have no privileges not allowed other

Mrs. Chadwick gave a handbag and a few trinkets to the nurse and whispered some instructions to her his prisoner over to the warden and she was taken to the matron's room. She asked to say good night to her son and the lad eagerly rushed to his mother and wrapping his arms about her, gave a long embrace. Then she was led away to the inner office where her pedigree was taken and she was assigned to a cell. The son and nurse entered a carriage and were driven to a hotel.

While lying on a couch in the United States marshal's office awaiting a bondsman, Mrs. Chadwick for the first time since her name has been before the public consented to talk for publication and gave out a statement in which she denied relationship to Mrs. York of San Francisco, who gave out an interview Wednesday telling of the early life of Mrs. Chadwick.

In justice to her son, Mrs. Chadwick said she would not make a state-ment about "this Madame Devere business" at the present time, but promised that later "Madame Devere's whereabouts and everything else in connection with this case would be shown." Mrs. Chadwick also told of the Wade

Man at Head of Movement to Start a Colony at Blackduck Passed Through

WILL DO BUSINESS IN SPRING

He Says the People Will Come From England to Locate on the Land.

Jabe Hines, a man wearing a cheap hand-me-down sweater, an ordinary woodman's cap, his hair and beard long lington hotel which was destroyed by known and respected resident of this and unkempt and assuming an air of very ordinary ability, certainly does not associated with him in the management look the part of a man who has undertaken the task of organizing a colony of from seven to ten thousand people and locating them on land situated near Blackduck.

Hines says that the reports circulated that he is a disciple of John Alexander Dowie are not exactly true and that John Alexander, old boy, has nothing to do with this new enterprise. He admits that he is a Zionist, but says that he and all others with whom he is interested do not intend to follow the plan of Dowie but have plans of their own.

He says that the new city is an assured thing now. He has option of some 22,000 acres of land five miles from Blackduck. This land will be settled with from six to seven thousand people according to Hines and they will be brought from England mostly. "Did you ever stop to think," said Hines, "that there are thousands and thousands of people in London who would be glad to join such a colony; men, I mean, who are out of work."

The man admitted that he was instructed by those interested with him not to talk much about the affairs of the would have a real city with industries and manufacturing plants, churches, schools, etc., etc. He also stated that provision would be made for a large morning the price is small and first number to farm the land. Convenient | come first served. Admission, 50c. little homes will be erected on the farms and they will all be equipped with every modern convenience.

dertaking Mr. Hines would not say much. He did say that there will be a movement in the spring for this territory and was confident that before the summer was over several thousand people would be living on the land which it is intended to purchase. The local that is being done on the reservation tion of the new colony is at Hines' spur | in the vicinity of Walker. It is said which is about 5 miles from Blackduck | that the town is full of lumbermen and and 15 miles from Bemidji.

There will be a regular meeting of the Trades & Labor tonight, all delegates are requested to be present as business of importance is to be transacted. By order of President.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"THE TENDERFOOT."

"The Tenderfoot" will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house, Thursday December 15. The now famous Texas comic opera has had a solid career of more than a year, the pieces having been in continuous service since April 12th, 1903. The principal claim for theme and background. Prof. Zachary Pettibone of Vermont, is thrown among rough-and.ready jokers of the southwestern border, while on a visit to his niece. The things that are supposed to happen to a "tenderfoot" supply several comedy situations. The main narrative is romantic and concerns the love affair

Texas, chosen for the first time as the scene of a comic opera, abounds in interesting material and character studies. There is a gambler of the Yuba Bill order, a ranch Chinaman, a fighting parson, as well as Indians and Mexicans. The composer, H. L. Heartz, is liberally helped by the odd assortment D. M. Man at Head of Movement to Start a Colony at Blackduck Passed Through

He Says the People Will Come From England to Locate on the Land.

Jabe Hines, a man wearing a cheap hand-me-down sweater, an ordinary woodman's cap, his hair and beard long and unkempt and assuming an air of very ordinary ability, certainly does not look the part of a man who has undertaken the task of organizing a colony of from seven to ten thousand people and locating them on land situated near

Hines says that the reports circulated that he is a disciple of John Alexander Dowie are not exactly true and that John Alexander, old boy, has nothing to do with this new enterprise. He admits that he is a Zionist, but says that he and all others with whom he is interested do not intend to follow the plan of Dowie but have plans of their own.

He says that the new city is an assured thing now. He has option of some 22,000 acres of land five miles from Blackduck. This land will be settled with from six to seven thousand people according to Hines and they will be brought from England mostly. "Did you ever stop to think," said Hines, "that there are thousands and thou sands of people in London who would be glad to join such a colony; men, I mean, who are out of work.'

The man admitted that he was in structed by those interested with him not to talk much about the affairs of the colony. He did say, however, that they would have a real city with industries and manufacturing plants, churches, schools, etc., etc. He also stated that provision would be made for a large number to farm the land. Convenient little homes will be erected on the farms and they will all be equipped with every modern convenience.

Concerning the details for this big undertaking Mr. Hines would not say much. He did say that there will be a movement in the spring for this territory and was confident that before the summer was over several thousand people would be living on the land which it is intended to purchase. The location of the new colony is at Hines' spur which is about 5 miles from Blackduck and 15 miles from Bemidji.

There will be a regular meeting of the Trades & Labor tonight, all delegates are requested to be present as business of importance is to be transacted. By order of President.

A TALE OF BONANZA DAYS.

How a Chance Remark of James

Flood Ruined His Gardener. In the old days of excitement when mining stocks were on the jump and men becaue millionaires over one day's dabbling an incident occurred at the country residence of James C. Flood in Menlo when a fairly well to do farmer found himself without a home in the short period of one week. The man's name was Hank, and, being a first tlass gardener, he readily found employment about the residence of the wealthy owners of mansions. In this way he was employed at the Flood residence. Hank was loitering about the garden one Saturday evening as the proprietor, in company with a visitor, was looking over the stock.

Mr. Flood, who had just stepped out of the hog corral, casually remarked to his friend that he would be willing to make a bet that "Con would go up to 800 before Christmas." Hank construed "Con" to mean Consolidated Virginia, and, taking the tip which he thought would make him a milliongire, be disposed of his holdings of 250 acres of fine land, his stock and, in brief, everything he had on earth except his wife and four bright little Hanks. The proceeds he invested in Consolidated Virginia stock, which was then selling at $75 a share.

Christmas came, but instead of "Con" going up to $200 it fell to $25. The man was a pauper. In lamenting his loss he incidentally mentioned to a friend of Flood how he lost his all. Flood, who was generous to a fault, sent for Hank and had him repeat his story. When he learned of his chance remark about "Con going up to 300 before Christmas" he fairly shook with laughter and explained what it meant.

It was in reference to the gift of a young sow, made a present to him by Con O'Connor, who in the fun of the thing had called the pig Con. The bet alluded to the sow's increasing in weight to 300 pounds before Christmas and not to Con Virginia. Having enjoyed the joke and after joshing Hank, the noble hearted Flood bought back the ranch for Hank and recompensed him for all his losses. The originality of the joke and the knowledge of the penalty paid by an eavesdropper were Flood's reward .-San Francisco Call.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE TENDERFOOT.

"The Tenderfoot" will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house, Thursday December 15. The now famous Texas comic opera has had a solid career of more than a year, the pieces having been in continuous service since April 12th, 1903. The principal claim for "The Tenderfoot" is the novelty of its theme and background. Prof. Zachary Pettibone of Vermont, is thrown among cowboys and rangers and all the other rough-and.ready jokers of the southwestern border, while on a visit to his niece. The things that are supposed to happen to a "tenderfoot" supply several comedy situations. The main narrative is romantic and concerns the love affair of the professor's niece and Colonel Winthrop.

Texas, chosen for the first time as the scene of a comic opera, abounds in interesting material and character studies. There is a gambler of the Yuba Bill order, a ranch Chinaman, a fighting parson, as well as Indians and Mexicans. The composer, H. L. Heartz, is liberally helped by the odd assortment D. M. Clark & Co. oldest installment of characters he is called upon to equip musically and the costumer has an equal advantage.

152tf foot" is by H. L. Heartz, already known as the composer of the score of "Miss Simplicity," etc. The score of "The Tenderfoot" is remarkable for its large percentage of tuneful and melodious numbers.

A TALE OF BONANZA DAYS.

How a Chance Remark of James Flood Ruined His Gardener.

In the old days of excitement when mining stocks were on the jump and sion tickets on sale December 24th, 25th, men because millionaires over one day's dabbling an incident occurred at the country residence of James C. Flood in Menlo when a fairly well to do farmer found himself without a home in the short period of one week. The man's name was Hank, and, being a first way he was employed at the Flood residence. Hank was loitering about the garden one Saturday evening as the proprietor, in company with a visitor, was looking over the stock.

Mr. Flood, who had just stepped out of the hog corral, casually remarked to 800 before Christmas." Hank construed "Con" to mean Consolidatel Virginia, and, taking the tip which he 158t3 he disposed of his holdings of 250 acres of fine land, his stock and, in brief, everything he had on earth except his wife and four bright little Hanks. The proceeds he invested in Consolidated Virginia stock, which was then selling at $75 a share.

Christmas came, but instead of "Con" going up to $200 it fell to $25. The man was a pauper. In lamenting his 155t. loss he incidentally mentioned to a friend of Flood how he lost his all. Flood, who was generous to a fault sent for Hank and had him repeat his story. When he learned of his chance remark about "Con going up to 300 before Christmas" he fairly shook with laughter and explained what it meant.

> It was in reference to the gift of a young sow, made a present to him by Con O'Connor, who in the fun of the thing had called the pig Con. The bet alluded to the sow's increasing in weight to 300 pounds before Christmas and not to Con Virginia. Having enjoyed the joke and after joshing Hank, the noble hearted Flood bought back the ranch for Hank and recompensed him for all his losses. The originality of the joke and the knowledge of the penalty paid by an eavesdropper were Flood's reward .-San Francisco Call.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

'THE TENDERFOOT.'

"The Tenderfoot" will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house, Thursday December 15. The now famous Texas comic opera has had a solid career of more than a year, the pieces having been in continuous service since April 12th, 1903. The principal claim for "The Tenderfoot" is the novelty of its theme and background. Prof. Zachary Pettibone of Vermont, is thrown among cowboys and rangers and all the other rough-and.ready jokers of the southwestern border, while on a visit to his niece. The things that are supposed to happen to a "tenderfoot" supply several comedy situations. The main narrative is romantic and concerns the love affair. of the professor's niece and Colonel Winthrop.

Texas, chosen for the first time as the scene of a comic opera, abounds in interesting material and character studies. There is a gambler of the Yuba Bill order, a ranch Chinaman, a fighting parson, as well as Indians and Mexicans. The composer, H. L. Heartz, is liberally helped by the odd assortment of characters he is called upon to equip musically and the costumer has an equal advantage.

152tf foot" is by H. L. Heartz, already known as the composer of the score of "Miss Simplicity," etc. The score of "The Tenderfoot" is remarkable for its large percentage of tuneful and melodious numbers.

preponderance of orders to sell over those to buy, the traders were early on the floor of the exchange. When the gong sounded for the opening of business there came from the struggling groups of brokers on the crowded floor a roar of human voices so loud that it startled and thrilled all who heard it. At first it seemed that all were sellers and none was left to buy. As the shricking men surged around the trading posts the bull arguments on which advances were based were all forgotten and brokers sought only to get rid of the stocks they held. The scene was observed by a throng of visitors in the gallery. First to give way in the hurly-burly was Amalgamated Copper. It fell until it sold at 581/2. a daeline of 10 points since Wednesday night's close and of 22 points from the highest of Tuesday. The 22-point recession represented a decrease in the market value of the company's total stock of more than

Enormous Shrinkage in Values.

Next to Amalgamated Copper the leader in the excitement was United States Steel corporation's stock, the common falling to 281/2 and the preferred to 84, over night declines of 614 points and 7% points respectively. The shrinkage in quoted values from Tuesday represented over $45,000,000 on the common and $36,000,000 on the preferred, an aggregate on the company's capital stock of more than $80.

There were other sensational declines. Values throughout the entire list were wiped out and for nearly two hours the demoralization was complete. The frightened throwing over of stocks was checked about noon and W. D. Crum, the collector of Charlesbefore I c'clock many of the active stocks had regained considerable of their losses. The tone of the trading remained feverish but the rally was well held and the close was, comparatively speaking, severely quiet. The total sales of all stocks Thursday was 2,905,400 shares.

Many causes for the day's selling were suggested, but the general opinion seemed to be that the bull market had brought in many buyers on small margins and when the signs of an impending break were seen Wednesday these holders were forced to sell out speculative purchases at whatever prices were obtainable.

The discussion brought out some humorous comment on the last presi dential election. It related to the lack of votes which were cast for Judge Mr. Williams of Mississippi and Mr carefully in consonance with the president's recommendation against extravagance. Mr. Bingham, in charge of the bill, was required constantly to explain some particular appropriation. The pay of the stenographers to committees of the house was reduced from $5,000 per annum to $3,000 and th house refused to accept the provision Increasing the pay of the secretary of the civil service commission. But little progress was made on the bill.

HOLDS ONLY A SHORT SESSION. Senate Then Takes an Adjournment Until Monday.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The senate held only a short session Thursday and adjourned until Monday. An attempt to secure consideration of the pure food bill was defeated by a demand of Mr. Aldrich that the bill be read at length, which brought an objection from Tillman, who did not want the time consumed.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD

The Information Contained in this Citizen's Statement is Invaluable to Brainerd People.

When a resident of Brainerd, whose statement appears below, who has no monetary or other interest in the article which he endorses, who is anxious to do his acquaintances and fellow residents a good turn, who publishes in this paper his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills—that citizen must have good and sufficient reason for doing so. The following should dispel any doubts which may have existed in the reader's mind on this subject:

J. Hagadorn, of 123 Ninth St. north, says: "For thirty years I had more or less trouble with my kidneys. Some at tacks laid me up, while during others my back ached so severely that I could not sleep at night nor work during the day. On many occasions I could not stand and talk to a man for two or three minutes without suffering with twinges across the small of my back which radiated toward the shoulders. As time passed by the complaint became more pronounced and difficulty with the kidney secretions set in. As might be expected I tried everything when the at tacks occurred to check them, but if I had met with any marked degree of success I never would have resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills. When suffering severely I went to a drug store and got a box. I expected the results would be similar to those obtained by using other preparations. In twenty four hours I changed my mind. I noticed they were acting totally different to anything hitherto tried and encouraged I kept on with the treatment until I finished two boxes. Now I may have recurrences, but at the present moment, and it is some time since I stopped the treatment, I have not a symptom of my old complaint. To anyone interested I will be only too pleased to give minuter details and substantiate the above statement in a personal interview." Sold for 50 cents a box by H. P. Dunn & Co. and all druggists. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for haste to sell securities the New York stock exchange Thursday witnessed the most sensational decline in prices that it has known since the historic Northern Pacific panie of May 9, 1901. preponderance of orders to sell over those to buy, the traders were early on the floor of the exchange. When the gong sounded for the opening of business there came from the struggling groups of brokers on the crowded floor a roar of human voices so loud that it startled and thrilled all who heard it. At first it seemed that all were sellers and none was left to buy As the shricking men surged around the trading posts the bull arguments on which advances were based were all forgotten and brokers sought only to get rid of the stocks they held. The scene was observed by a throng of visitors in the gallery. First to give way in the burly-burly was Amalga-mated Copper. It fell until it sold at 581/2. a dacline of 10 points since Wednesday night's close and of 2: points from the highest of Tuesday The 22-point recession represented a decrease in the market value of the company's total stock of more than

Enormous Shrinkage in Values.

Next to Amalgamated Copper the leader in the excitement was United States Steel corporation's stock, the common falling to 231/2 and the pre-ferred to 84, over night declines of 61/4 points and 7% points respectively. The shrinkage in quoted values from Tuesday represented over $45,000,000 on the common and $36,000,000 on the preferred, an aggregate on the company's capital stock of more than $80.

There were other sensational declines. Values throughout the entire list were wiped out and for nearly two hours the demoralization was complete. The frightened throwing over of stocks was checked about noon and before 1 c'clock many of the active stocks had regained considerable of their losses. The tone of the trading remained feverish but the rally was well held and the close was, comparatively speaking, severely quiet. The total sales of all stocks Thursday was 2,905,400 shares.

Many causes for the day's selling were suggested, but the general opinion seemed to be that the bull market had brought in many buyers on small margins and when the signs of an impending break were seen Wednesday these holders were forced to sell out speculative purchases at whatever prices were obtainable.

On many occasions I could not stand and talk to a man for two or three minutes without suffering with twinges across the small of my back which radiated toward the shoulders. As time passed by the complaint became more pronounced and difficulty with the kidney secretions set in. As might be expected I tried everything when the attacks occurred to check them, but if I had met with any marked degree of suc-cess I never would have resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills. When suffering severely I went to a drug store and got a box. I expected the results would be similar to those obtained by using other preparations. In twenty four hours I changed my mind. I noticed they were acting totally different to anything hitherto tried and encouraged I kept on with the treatment until I finished two boxes. Now I may have recurrences, but at the present moment, and it is some time since I stopped the treatment, I have not a symptom of my old com-plaint.
